Historical Note:

James E. Chadwick (JEC) was a prominent Vineyard businessman and civic leader on the island of Martha's Vineyard. While largely known for his involvement in a number of tourist businesses in and around the town of Edgartown, Chadwick also spent forty years collecting manuscripts and material objects relating to Vineyard history. Indeed, JEC created his own small exhibition space in his home to display his collection. Born in Edgartown on October 30, 1849, JEC lived throughout his life in his family home except for attending the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which he was graduated in 1888. Trained as an engineer, Chadwick opted to pursue business opportunities on the Island.

His business interests revolved around the Edgartown waterfront such as his purchase of the Fisher and Ripley Coal Company which he operated at his wharf for over thirty years. The Chappaquiddick Bathing Beach was one of his most ambitious and successful developments. With his father and brother he began building changing houses in 1883 and continued to increase their number and supervise the facility for many years. The Martha's Vineyard Railroad, the island's first and only railroad, began service in 1874. JEC served on the board and was the surviving officer when its service ended in 1895. He purchased and disposed of the remains, including the equipment, rolling stock, and engine. He was elected Selectman for several terms. He also served as Collector of Taxes and as a member of the financial committee. He was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church, serving as an officer and also of the Martha's Vineyard Campground Association. The DCHS, the Martha's Vineyard Hospital, and the Sons of the American Revolution were among his many memberships.

Mr. Chadwick's mother was Adelaide Cushing Thayer of Braintree who had been a summer visitor to the island. This relationship helps to explain the presence of Thayer documents in the collection. Through his paternal grandmother, he was directly related to Thomas Mayhew as well as other important early Americans. Beyond a life-long collector of historical artifacts, JEC was also involved in local historical associations like the Sons of the American Revolution and the Dukes County Historical Society. At the age of seventy, JEC died in his hometown of Edgartown on June 26, 1938. But, his connection to the Martha's Vineyard Historical Society did not end. Indeed, in 1986, JEC's important collection of manuscripts and material objects was donated to the Historical Society.

Scope and Content

The JEC document collection was assembled, in his words, over the course of forty years as a hobby. It is comprised of legal documents, letters, maritime material, religious material, autographs, and a small number of miscellaneous items.

The collection as a whole illustrates JEC's interest in the history of Martha's Vineyard and his desire to preserve whatever documents he could collect related to it, along with American history in general. It seems likely that he acquired much of the Samuel Smith material from a surviving Smith family member. Samuel Smith (#70) served as Dukes County Registrar of Deeds in the late 18th and into the 19th century. In their diaries in the Society's collection Samuel's (#70) daughters Hannah and Rebecca both comment on the constant parade of people arriving at their house with notes and other requests for information related to deeds. Some of the deeds survived to become part of the collection, along with deeds related to several generations of the Smith family's accumulation of property in the Job's Neck/Pohogonot area along the south shore. Other documents are of a more personal nature, such as Samuel's note asking Thomas Mayhew to shop for him in Boston for specific household items and subsequently including the purchases in a list of gifts he gave to Rebecca when she was married. Very few documents seem directly related to the Chadwick family.

The thirty-four Deeds date from 1688 to 1862. Most of them concern the sale of property in Edgartown.

Legal Papers include wills, administration of estates, probate appointments, and indentures. Several concern arrangements and charges for care of island poor and Indians as well as for use of English hospitals by sailors. In addition to material related to his office as Registrar of Deeds, the Samuel Smith papers include some personal material such as a receipt for purchase of a chaise from Thomas Cooke and subsequent taxes for it. Among items related to schools is an 1817 voucher for teachers' salaries. The sixty-five legal papers date from between 1753 and 1885.

The earliest of the thirty-four letters which date from 1704 to 1935 was sent by a daughter living off-island to her mother, Hannah Smith, concerning her poor health. Most have a connection to Martha's Vineyard such as West Tisbury's poet, Nancy Luce, who wrote to Jeremiah Pease in 1879 to complain about being annoyed by visitors to her home. Others, an 1862 letter from a Civil War soldier for example, was to a Thayer relative in Braintree.

The autograph collection consists of more than a hundred signatures removed from their original text and three signed Treasury circulars dating from 1793, 1812, and 1831. Maritime material dates from 1810 to 1865, and is related to customs and navy certificates as well as a poem by Hannah Smith, daughter of Samuel (#70). The Religious Material contains a 1773 handwritten sermon by Joseph Thaxter, and later printed sermons, minutes of annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and an annual license for a house lot at the Camp Meeting. The Miscellaneous section begins with a 1791-92 English map and includes stock certificates, a copy of the Declaration of Independence, and other materials that do not fit the major categories.
